

Aims and Scope of the Journal

The Journal of the Indian Society of Coastal Agricultural Research (JISCAR) considers original full length papers, short communications and review articles in English only based on the results of research in agriculture and allied disciplines (horticulture, forestry, aquaculture, animal husbandry, soils, water management, agricultural extension, agricultural economics, ecology, climate, policy issues, etc.) pertaining to the agricultural production and ecology of the coastal region for publication. The review articles are received only by invitation. Besides the journal also publishes book reviews relevant to the coastal ecosystem.

Peer Review Policy

The articles received online are first reviewed by the Chief Editor and/or Managing Editor including members of the Editorial Board to assess whether the articles can be considered for publication. Generally, articles are thereafter sent to two reviewers out of the panel prepared, who are specialist in that area of research. Usually, two weeks time is given to the reviewers to complete the peer-review process. The reviewers are required to submit a report regarding the suitability of the article along with the comments in the online editorial system. If the reviewers do not respond in time then they are sent reminders. If one of the reviewers does not respond even after being given reminder then the Editor in consultation with the Editorial Board takes suitable action based on the comments of one reviewer. Each article recommended or otherwise is also reviewed on the light of the comments received and recommended articles are suitably edited by a member of the Editorial Board. The comments of the reviewer and Editorial Board are sent through the online editorial system to the author for making the revision and re-submission. The accepted articles are then thoroughly checked for English language, uniformity and any ambiguity before publication. Best efforts are made to complete the review process at the earliest and confer acceptance to the authors within two months.
